

THE CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION OF NEW ENGLAND

Renata Poggioli Award

for summer travel to Italy or Greece

Available only in even years, the Poggioli Award, established by the Boston Fund in 1991, funds study and/or travel in Italy and/or Greece typically during the summer months. The CANE Scholarship Committee makes the Award, generally between $4000-$6000, every other year.

Eligibility and Requirements:

1. You must be teaching in New England at the secondary or college level.
2. You must have a rank no higher than untenured assistant professor, or have taught less than ten years at the secondary level.
3. You must have no access to major university research-grant and travel-grant programs.

The recipient of the Poggioli Award need not be a member of CANE, but CANE will ask for a written report at the conclusion of the program. Travel is expected to be completed during the year funds are awarded, otherwise funds must be returned to CANE in full.

Application Deadline: January 15 (of even years)
